Upon demand by Merchant prior to tendering the Goods for shipment, a substitute Bill of Lading will be issued by Carrier noting all dents, scratches, discoloration, chipping, marring, rust or other visible condition(s). If no such substitute Bill of Lading is requested in writing prior to tender of the Goods for transport under this Bill of Lading, the "apparent good order and condition" notation shall not constitute prima facie evidence that the Goods were delivered to Carrier without such visible condition(s).
- (2) Superficial rust, oxidation, moisture or any like condition of any iron, steel or metal products is not a condition of damage but is inherent to the nature of the Goods and acknowledgement of receipt of the Goods in apparent good order and condition does not mean that the Goods when received were free of visible rust, oxidation or moisture. The Carrier shall in no event be liable for loss or damage arising out of or resulting from such inherent nature of the Goods.

17. Precise Machinery

Merchant acknowledges that Carrier has not undertaken an inspection of moving parts or the operation of machinery tendered for transport. Any statement on the face hereof that such Goods have been received by Carrier in “apparent good order and condition” shall not be construed as a representation or warranty of the working order of such Goods, and shall not constitute prima facie evidence of the goods order of such Goods with regard to damage not readily determinable by visible inspection or without opening packaging, including but not limited to; damage caused by shock, vibration, or other movement of these Goods in the course of handling, loading, or transport. Merchant further acknowledges Carrier has not undertaken to carry the Goods under special care or specific instructions for care of handling, unless Carrier has agreed in writing on the face hereof to provide such special care or follow such specific instructions and additional freight has been prepaid to and accepted by the Carrier. Notwithstanding such special care or instructions, and additional freight paid to Carrier therefor, Carrier shall nonetheless be entitled to all exemptions, defenses, immunities, exceptions, presumptions and inferences arising under this Bill of Lading or any applicable law.

18. Temperature Controlled Goods

- (1) Merchant acknowledges that the Goods do not require special care in the stowage, handling, or transport, such as ventilation, humidity control, refrigerated carriage, or watering (in the case of live plants) unless Merchant has declared the need for such special stowage or care in writing prior to tendering the Goods to Carrier and Carrier has agreed in writing to undertake such special care, and a higher freight rate has been paid therefor. In the event Merchant declares the need for special care, and Merchant’s instructions for special care are inserted on the face hereof, and higher freight is paid therefor, Carrier shall exercise due diligence to provide such special care, but in no event shall Carrier be liable for any breakdown, stoppage, malfunction, or latent defect in any refrigeration or temperature-controlling equipment.
- (2) If the goods have been packed into a refrigerated or reefer container by Merchant, Merchant acknowledges and agrees that it has inspected such container and has found it suitable and operational, including its refrigeration plant and thermostatic controls. Merchant agrees that it shall set the proper temperature range sufficiently prior to loading the container for safe receipt of the Goods, and further agrees that Carrier shall not be liable for any loss or damage to the Goods arising from any failure to perform Merchant's obligations hereinabove.

- (3) If the goods have been packed into a refrigerated or reefer container by Carrier and the temperature range requested by Merchant has been set forth on the face of this Bill of Lading, Carrier shall undertake to set the temperature range as requested, but shall not be responsible for any loss or damage to the Goods due to fluctuations in temperature, and Carrier does not guarantee the maintenance of such temperature range within the Container.

19. Live Animals and Plants

Live animals and/or plants, when accepted for carriage, are accepted for carriage solely and absolutely at the risk of Merchant and without any warranty or undertaking whatsoever by Carrier that the vessel and other means of transport are seaworthy, fitted, manned, equipped, and supplied for the reception, carriage, and preservation of such Goods.

20. Limitations of Liability and Defenses

- (1) Merchant agrees Carrier shall be relieved of liability for any loss or damage to the Goods, diminution in value, or delay in delivery arising from:
- (a) Act, neglect, or default of the master, mariner, pilot, or the servants of Carrier or Actual Carrier in the navigation or the management of the ship;
 - (b) Fire, unless caused by the actual fault or privity of Carrier or Actual Carrier;
 - (c) Perils, dangers, and accidents of the sea or other navigable waters;

 - (j) Compliance with the instruction of the person entitled to give them;
 - (k) Defect of the container or similar article supplied by the Merchant or any other person acting on behalf of the Merchant;
 - (l) Handling, loading, stowage or discharge to and from container or similar article by the Merchant or any other person acting on behalf of the Merchant;
 - (m) Strikes or lockouts or stoppage or restraint of labour from whatever cause, whether partial or general;

 - (o) Saving or attempting to save life or property at sea;
 - (p) Wastage in bulk or weight or any other loss or damage arising from inherent nature, defect, quality, or vice of the Goods;
 - (q) Insufficiency of packing or packaging, or in the preparation of the Goods for transport;

- (r) Insufficiency or inadequacy of marks;
 - (s) Latent defects;
 - (t) Any other cause arising without the actual fault or privity of Carrier or Actual Carrier or without the fault or neglect of the agents or servants of Carrier or Actual Carrier;

However, if freight is assessed on a “per container” basis, the Goods shall be considered as not having been shipped in a package, and the container shall be deemed the “customary freight unit” and Carrier’s liability shall be limited to U.S. $500 per container. Where the Goods are shipped to or from a country that is a signatory to the Hague Rules or Hague-Visby Rules, Carrier’s liability shall be limited to G.B.P 100 per package or unit, or such other limitation amount as may apply by Protocol and if the Goods are shipped in a container locked and sealed by Merchant, the applicable limitation amount shall apply on a “per container” basis.
- (3) In accepting this Bill of Lading, Merchant acknowledges that it has been offered the opportunity to declare the actual value of the Goods in the space on the face of this Bill of Lading so designated. If no value appears in the space on this Bill of Lading designated for the “declaration of Value”, or if the entry “NVD” or any other notation indicating no value has been declared appears in that space, then Merchant acknowledges that it has chosen not to declare a value for the Goods, If Merchant chooses to declare a value for the Goods, then an ad-valorem freight rate shall be assessed, and Merchant shall pay any additional freight based thereon prior to the commencement of the transportation covered by this Bill of Lading. If Merchant fails to declare such value, then Merchant agrees that Carrier’s liability is limited to U.S. $500 per customary freight unit or container, or to U.S. $500 per package where goods are not shipped in a container are subject to U.S. COGSA, or to G.B.P. 100 per package or unit where the Goods are shipped subject to the Hague Rules or Hague-Visby Rules, as set forth in subpart (2) hereinabove. Whenever the Goods are shipped to and from countries which are not signatories to the Hague Rules or Hague-Visby Rules, then the Carrier’s liability shall be limited to U.S. $500 per container if the Goods are shipped in containers, or to U.S. $500 per package or customary freight unit, whichever results in a lesser limit of liability, if the Goods are not shipped in a container.
- (4) The defenses, exceptions, presumptions, inferences, and limitations of liability provided for in this Bill of lading shall apply in any action against Carrier and/or Actual Carrier for loss or damage to the Goods, or delay in delivery, whether the action be founded in contract, in tort, or on any other basis whatsoever.

- (5) Unless written notice of loss or damage to the Goods, and the general nature of such loss or damage, is given to Carrier at the place and time of delivery, before removal of the Goods into the custody of the person entitled to take delivery under this Bill of Lading, such removal shall be prima facie evidence of the delivery by Carrier of the Goods in the same like order, condition, count, weight, volume, number, and description as received by Carrier. If the loss or damage is not apparent, the written notice must be given within three (3) days of the time of delivery.
- (6) The Carrier shall be discharged from all liability in respect of loss or damage unless suit is brought within nine (9) months after delivery of the Goods or the date when the Goods should have been delivered. In the event such time period shall be found to be contrary to any international convention or mandatory national law, the period covered by such convention or mandatory national law shall then apply but in that circumstance only.
- (7) If the stage of the Carriage during which the loss or damage occurred is known, the liability of the Carrier shall be determined by the provisions contained in any international convention or mandatory national law which provisions; (a) cannot be departed from by private contract to the detriment of the Merchant, (b) or would have applied if the Merchant had made a separate and direct contract with the Actual Carrier in respect of particular stage of the carriage during which the loss or damage occurred and received as evidence thereof any particular documents which must be issued in order to make such international convention or national law applicable.
